

ADVISORY SERVICE

When you have a coaching staff that has 42 years of coaching/teaching experience then you have a great opportunity to find the right place to play your game and develop your potential via your Mentors. This is what we bring to the table for those who buy into our program.

We bring time tested quality of results to the players and their families. We know what it takes physically, mentally, financially, and spiritually. We teach the whole person because this is a game that challenges the whole person.

We ask players to pay their registration fee of $275.00 for the year. Once we have the money to work with our process goes into overdrive for the player and his family.

We take our player profiles, and we market them to the global coaching community.

We put players with coaches that can match in character and in mutual athletic/academic mission.

We keep honesty evaluation available for the player with respect to the programs and with respect to the process of junior collegiate, collegiate, professional, and international.

We believe in advising a family on all the aspects of a situation however, we leave it to the player to decide based on his own evaluation.

We are efficient with our evaluations, we are effective in landing them with the right program, and we do not waist time and family resources.

There is a secret to the process. We know this secret. We have placed guys in the MLB draft, on international Clubs, in D1, D2, D3, CC, and JUCO. We know the ins and outs of showcase ball. We know what the coaches are after, and we know which ones need you to fill a roster or fill a dorm room.

We also know what you are going to do by the way you approach the game on and off the field. It is called the sixth sense of sport. We will find out if you have it or not. And if you do.... we will have a great amount of fun networking you to baseball opportunities around the world.
